LITTERING

Littering is bad for the environment, so we should stop!

One way you can stop littering is to use the 3R's: Reduce, reuse, and recycle. By reducing, you can use less garbage, by reusing, you can use the same cup over and over, and by recycling, you can do a lot of things, like turn a paper plate into a mask: cut holes into it for your eyes. 2) Design your mask. 3) Tape a pop-sicle stick to the back to hold it. 4) Enjoy your new, recycled mask!

Another way you can stop littering is to clean your garbage. By cleaning up litter on the ground, every one will be happy, and the environment will be saved.

Another way you can stop littering is to not make too much waste. You don't make waste by recycling, so we should recycle, not litter.

One more way you can stop littering is to make it a bigger law. To do this, you can tell a police when you see someone litter and pick up that garbage, or, you can help pick up litter for a community service and tell the police if people are littering in the area you are working at in.

In conclusion, littering is bad so we should clean it up and help the world!
