

Love Can Build A House That Stands Forever

My mom is the best mom a kid could ever have. Believe it or not she cleans after she comes from work. She wakes up early everyday and she also goes to work even when she is sick. She does all of these things because she loves the whole family.

The first way my mom works hard for the family is by cleaning after work.

One day when my mom came from work she couldn't believe it. The house was so dirty. There was dust all over the place? "What happened?!" she asked. Nobody answered. I couldn't believe it after she came from work tired she took the mop and the broom and started cleaning. First she cleaned the kitchen, there was stains on the oven. The dishes were all dirty too. When she finished she was exhausted. I always thank her for what she does for the family.

She cleans the kitchen. She wants everything to be in order for dinner.

She cleans the bedroom. She knows I could do it but she does it anyway.

She cleans the bathroom. She knows it's nasty but she does it without complaints.

Not only does my mom work hard for the family by cleaning after work, but by waking up early everyday, when I'm sleeping I can hear the creaking sound of the door of my bedroom. I could tell that she was getting my clothes. When I wake up she always has my clothes hanging from the chairs. I could tell she woke up early. When I put them on they fit just right and they look pretty too. If my mom wasn't beside me I wouldn't know what to do and I would be so dissapointed.

She wakes up early everyday to put my clothes in order. Depending on what activity I have.

She wakes up early everyday to check my book bag incase I forgot a book or a sheet.

She wakes up early everyday to see what is the temperature to see if I need a coat.

Perhaps the most important way why my mom works hard for the family by never missing a day of work even when she is sick.

One morning my mom told me that she was sick. She sneezed, she coughed she even wasted a pack of tissues. When she went to her job, that exact moment I felt that my mom could do anything. When she left I was worried. She left in an awful condition when she got home she felt better.

"Hey, mom are you ok?" I said.

"I've never felt better" she said.

I was so relieved.

When she is sick she can still give me breakfast. She tries her best to give me something simply to eat.

When she is sick she can still put my clothes in order. She knows I put on whatever she gives me.

When she is sick she can still help me with my homework. When I'm stuck she tries her best to help me.

What I've realized is that my mom does all of this because she loves the family. She wants the family to be together and have what we need. This past week I was singing up on stage a song titled "We Will Be A Shelter For Each Other." There's a line that says "Love can build a house that stands forever. I realized that those words are how I feel about my mom. It's my mom that makes the family so strong.
