There are many reasons why people shouldn't litter. They are: it makes the street look ugly, animals will eat it and die, and people will slip on the trash and hurt themselves.

People shouldn't litter because it makes the street look ugly. One time I was walking to school with my dad, wishing that I lived somewhere, where it didn't look like a tornado had just hit. My mom teases me about wanting to live in a suburb, like California. I don't find it funny. This shows that litter makes the street ugly.

Another reason why people shouldn't litter, is that animals will eat it and die. My friend

Haley's fish died, because somebody had put paper in her fish bowl. My mom once read me an article in the newspaper, about some dolphins who ate plastic, and had to have surgery. This shows that animals can get hurt from litter.

The last reason why people shouldn't litter, is that other people can hurt themselves on it. my friend Martha broke her arm by slipping on a piece of trash. I also, once saw a lady slip on a piece of trash on the street. This shows that people can slip on trash and hurt themselves.

These are all the reasons why people shouldn't litter. You have just read them.
